$370...TOO MUCH FOR THE MEGA-CD-ROM??

The most talked about item among Genesis users is the Mega-CD-ROM. Letters have been pouring in to our offices by the hundreds wanting to know every possible detail about this phenomenal super peripheral. And, like you, we too are extremely interested in seeing this great machine take off and be a success. We will go to any extreme to squeeze out every bit of information from our WorldNet™ sources and Sega of Japan. Being first with system photos, technical specs and game screens are but a small part of seeing that the word gets out to everybody about the next generation in 16 bit gaming.

But every once in a while even we get carried away by pure specifications. Granted the CD-ROM adds tremendously to the play value of the Genesis, but at what point will the consumer say 'No, this is too much?' We've seen this happen to the TurboGrafx CD-ROM. It has been out for several years and the game player's enthusiasm has been lukewarm at best. Only now, when NEC lowered the price to under $300 is anybody taking a second look at their unit. And, the hot item in the newspapers is the fact that parents are starting to say no to the Super Nintendo because of it's lack of downward compatibility and it's hefty price of $200.

Will it be Sega's turn next Spring when they try to sell their CD-ROM for $370? Add in the Genesis and the system lists out in the NEO-GEO range of over $500.

The key, as with any new system, will be in the software. We've done extensive interviews with game developers in Japan and many don't even have CD-ROM development systems yet. And the games that will be out by the end of the year will be at best, cartridge softs with CD quality music. And even then, most are heavy-duty strategy military simulations or Japanese language RPG's. Sega is going to have a hard time in getting good U.S. CD games ready by next summer.

Stripping away all the glitter of this new peripheral, Sega is going to have to watch how, and when they bring the MEGA-CD to the U.S. They were wise not to rush it out the door this year, but they are going to have to take a hard look at even next Spring. The last thing they will want to do is duplicate what NEC did when they brought out their CD-ROM.

On a lighter note, we want to welcome the new member of our Mega Play staff...Tokenmann™ (yes, he's related to the world famous Quartermann). He's been working behind the scenes for the past several months, and, look for his exclusive column next issue. He will have all of the latest and newest in spicy, Sega game gossip.

GENESIS RGB UPDATE..

You guys are spectacular! Great honest reviews, current news and high tech articles that are practical and useful.

I was very interested in your article on RGB for the Genesis and, I set the system up. Your specs and monitor selection was perfect! Your readers should note that the Commodore 1084 monitor has two speakers for stereo sound!

I found that for even better video, a voltage drop should be placed on the negative sync pin. The resistance needed is about 180 ohms. I used a potentiometer and adjusted it until I had a clear stable picture.

Your photos of the difference between RGB and Composite didn't do this upgrade justice. When viewed for the first time, the screen is beyond description!

Mike Malicki
DBN Heights, MI

I am the proud owner of a Sega Genesis system which is now hooked up to an RGB monitor (thanks to you guys). Let me tell you that I never want to play video games on a television again! Thanks for the info.

Henry Johnson
Albany, GA

One thing which I like about your publications is the fact that you really get into your work. You aren't just recopying press releases as you go out of your way to get us the reason behind the news. Your RGB article is one good example. Do you know if there is any product which will utilize the S-VHS jacks that are appearing on some of the newer TV's?

Jennie Ambrosic
Dry Ridge, KY

(Ed. We're glad to hear that some adventuresome readers have ventured into the awesome realm of RGB video. Sorry Jennie, there isn't any easy way to get a S-VHS output from the Genesis. The Super Famicom and Super NES though, will output their signal to S-VHS and you can buy a Super Famicom cable that will hook up to your TV. Unfortunately, Nintendo of America moves so slow that it may be many months (if ever) before they offer this cable. Contact one of the mail order companies for this option.)

R-360 IN U.S.!!

Stop the presses! R-360 and Radmobile are both in the U.S. That's right, they both exist at the Space Needle Arcade in Gatlinberg Tenn.!

It costs $5.00 to play R-360 and it's worth it! It is the best simulator that I've ever played. I could feel the G forces with every rotation.

Radmobile is awesome! It blows Outrun and Power Drift off the face of the planet. There are some nice features like being arrested, caught in the darkness and the cute doll of Sonic the Hedgehog hanging from the top of the screen.

If anybody is ever in the area they should visit this great arcade!

Juanell Spotts
Lexington, KY

R-360 appears in the U.S.!

MEGA-CD-ROM..

The Mega-CD-ROM is awesome, not to mention your excellent coverage of this super unit. The other magazines didn't even bother to list the specs while you not only did that, but also showed the games!

Even though it could cost $350+ I would easily commit myself and shell out the money. I've played the Super NES and the slowdown is horrendous. Just think a real 32 bit machine capable of doing anything the S-NES can do! I can't wait.

Delin Johnson
Raleigh, N.C.

After reading about the coming of the long awaited CD-ROM I was elated. I knew that you would be the only one who would have all the details. $370 for the unit. I have no problem paying that much for anything which will take the Genesis into the next generation of game systems!

Jameson Boyer
Freemont, CA

First of all I thing Mega Play is totally outrageous! I especially like your coverage of the Mega-CD-ROM. In response to your editorial in the last issue, I would gladly pay that much for a system with such amazing capabilities. It would be money well spent! After seeing the pictures of Nostalgia 1907 I'll pay over $350 for anything that good!

Brian Blaskon
Clifton, NJ

I would pay $370 for the Mega-CD-ROM any time. It looks like it would blow away any CD-ROM. The specs put the system above the Neo-Geo. And the games would be much cheaper with even more memory! I'll be the first in line when it comes out!

Greg Suzdan
Tampa, FL

Sega's new MEGA-CD-ROM!

(Ed. Judging from the 100+ letters that came in so far, it looks like the Mega-CD-ROM will be an instant hit. Absolutely nobody flinched at the price. Some were concerned about the type of software that will be available, but everybody agreed that the specs and abilities of this spectacular new peripheral will make the system worth getting.)

WHERE ARE...?

This is another 'Whatever happened to...?' letter. I need to know several things. First, will New Zealand Story ever come to the U.S.? I ask because Nintendo has changed their licensing contract (and I refuse to get the inferior Nintendo version). And what about Dando? You keep talking about it but it never seems to go anywhere.

Another thing is that you have given the impression that Final Fight or Ninja Gaiden will be coming to the Genesis. This seems to be a little unlikely considering that Capcom and Tecmo don't seem to be working for Sega. Stop stroking us along and show some proof!

Keith Previc
New Cumberland, PA

My favorite games are the RPG's and FRPG's. I breezed through Phantasy Star 2 and Phantasy Star 3 was even easier. What my problem is, I just can't get enough good, hard RPG's for the Genesis. What do you recommend? What ever happened to Moondancer, Sorcerian and all of the other great RPG's that you once previewed in Mega Play?

Josh Bell
Bronx, NY

(Ed. New Zealand Story was an excellent game for the Mega Drive. Unfortunately, the U.S. companies can not bring over every game that is made in Japan. Such is the case of NZS. With all of the great new games that Taito is working on, it is highly unlikely that it will ever appear here.

While Capcom and Tecmo are quite content to stay loyal to Nintendo, there is no reason why they can't license some of their games out to other companies. Such was the case of Mercs. This is a great Capcom arcade shooter but Sega bought the rights from them and it now is a Genesis game. As for Tecmo, look for Ninja Gaiden coming soon for the Game Gear.

Also, many of the Japanese games, while great for the Japanese players, are not as well received by the U.S. players. RPG's are the number one genre of game in Japan, while here in the U.S., the action and adventure games are the best. Language translation is the major problem in bringing over more RPG's, and since the RPG market is relatively small for the Genesis, only a few companies will venture the time and effort to bring out new RPG softs. Look for Star Odyssey from Sage's Creation and a new 12 meg behemoth from Sega!

Dando (also known as Vasum) has been put on hold and won't be out in the U.S. for some time.)

WHITE GAME GEAR

I'm planing to buy a Game Gear system. But before I do I did a little checking up. I was planning to buy a White Game Gear system for $350. This includes the GG, tuner, and a case. But as it turns out, if you buy them separately they only cost $265. Why is the price so different? Is the white GG better than the regular one? If so, in what ways?

Jerry Hwang
Laguna Niguel, CA

The limited production white Game Gear - only in Japan!

(Ed. Sorry Jerry, but you're mixing apples and oranges. The White GG is a Japan only product (the U.S. tuner isn't out yet!) and the price you list is from a mail order company. When we bought our white GG in Japan it was only about $260. Remember if you buy a Japanese tuner you won't get all of the U.S. TV channels. The white GG is special though. Only a few thousand of these were made and they are 'collector's items'. Sega of America won't comment on whether they will bring out a U.S. white GG but, it is a good way to sell a complete system.)

JOHN MADDEN FOOTBALL

(Electronic Arts/Genesis)

Stop Your Opponent From Making Extra Points-Beating your opponent in this game can be tough, but if they can't make extra points it will be hard for them to win. In order to make your opponent miss their extra points, you have to keep going off side until the ball is on the goal line. When your opponent kicks the ball, it will be too low and he'll miss it.

Keep going off sides!

The kick will now be too low!

COMING ATTRACTIONS

SHADOW OF THE BEAST

Electronic Arts

This game will probably remind you a lot of Altered Beast with faster game play. This is an action game, and your character is a monster. It's packed with tons of levels all featuring some of the wildest multi-layered backgrounds ever seen on a home system!. Although it plays fast it is very intense with extremely large monsters which easily are half of the screen high. Great animation, bright, vivid colors and spectacular sound are but a few of the points setting this cart above the rest.

Just like the popular computer game!

Spectacular multi dimensional backgrounds!

Unbelievably huge end of round bosses!

GOLDEN AXE II

GOLDEN AXE IS BACK!!!!

The people at Sega have been hard at work working on a sequel to one of the original Genesis games - Golden Axe. They've brought back the same characters and revamped them with new magic and special techniques, and they stuck them in new levels and put them up against a cast of even more deadly and powerful enemies.

After years of peace you have to defend your land from the evil invaders. You must defeat them by using a sword or a axe, and you will be aided with the art of an ancient magic. You are the only one that has the power to face and defeat the ruthless invaders and rescue the land from the evil one.

TWO PLAYER SIMULTANEOUS

Like the original Golden Axe this version has the feature of playing with your friend simultaneously.

THE DUEL

You can practice beating certain enemies by having it out with them in a duel.

DRAGONS

Like the original version you can use the enemies pets to attack!

Use this guy to give your enemy a swift back kick in the face!

A nice whip of the tail should be enough to keep any enemy down!

PALADIN

SWORDSMAN

AXEMAN

LEVEL 2

You got a little taste of the game but don't get too cocky, all the levels aren't as easy as level one. Watch out for the edge of the cliff, you can fall off. Try knocking the enemies off the edge.

LEVEL 3

The start of this level is the hardest part. You have to make a very difficult jump. You must time it perfectly and jump right before you fall off. Use your jump attack to beat the boss.

LEVEL 4

You start to get attacked by more enemies at one time, so take it slow. Your best form of attack for this level is to use your special attack. Don't waste your magic you'll need it for the boss.

LEVEL 5

The enemies in this level can be tough, make sure to use your magic wisely because it will come in handy against the boss. Watch out, the bosses are tough because they gang up on you.

TOEJAM AND EARL

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sega | Genesis | Adventure | 8 Meg | Nov. 1991 |

What happens when a couple of hip rappin' aliens crash land on Earth? You can only find out with Toe Jam & Earl. Find the scattered pieces of your spaceship to leave the Earth and return home!

DAVE 7

There's no doubt TJ&E has some of the best graphics and sounds you'll get on the Genesis, but there's a slight problem - the game. It's fun, but there's not as much depth as I would have liked.

G.O.G. 7

This game has some very rockin' tunes and the sound effects are like no other. It tends to get boring after awhile because all you do is walk around. Interesting cart, but at what price?

MIKE 9

This is one of the most innovative and most entertaining carts that I've seen in a long time. Great music and fantastic game play that leaves you laughing long after the game is over.

BART 7

There are a lot of funny features and the music is really cool, but I don't see how all this makes a great game. The sound test is hilarious and the digitized effects are truly awesome.

EL VIENTO

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Renovation | Genesis | Action | 8 Meg | Nov. 1991 |

Here is an interesting side scroller set in the 1930's. Annett is a woman who has been sent to rid the world of a dark overlord. With technique that is similar to the Valis series, El Viento is all-action!

DAVE 8

El Viento takes some of the best concepts we've seen in Genesis games and piles on loads of new features. It looks and plays good, and there's plenty of hectic fighting for action fans.

G.O.G. 9

Renovation does it again bringing you another great game with 8 Meg power. This cart has game play that is rarely seen in Sega games, matching that of my favorites. Cool magic.

MIKE 9

Combine fantastic game play with state of the art graphics and 8-Meg of power and you get this great looking, great playing cart. Incredible stereo sound is another plus.

BART 9

Killer explosions and awesome graphics set this action cart above the rest. The game play is absolutely the best on the Genesis, filled with tons of techniques and interesting power-ups.

ROAD RASH

This is not your typical motorcycle racing game. The action is very fast, and not only can you pass your opponents, but you can sock them right off their bikes. Watch for oncoming cars or you'll bite the dust!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Electronic Arts | Genesis | Driving | 5 Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 9

EA has done a superb job with the first-person graphics and game play in Road Rash which are the best I've seen in a Genesis driver. The technique and play structure is also a hit!

G.O.G. 9

This game is so totally cool! To tell you the truth the graphics aren't anything spectacular, but they're decent. What makes the game so cool is that it is so fun. I love the wipe outs!!!

MIKE 9

EA has successfully made one of the best motorcycle games ever. Great scrolling and upbeat music in addition to bone crushing accidents make this an enjoyable cart to play.

BART 8

This cart's best feature is the variety of wicked spills that you take when you wipe out. The game play is a little sloppy but this game is really fun to play, and that's what counts.

RAIDEN TRAD

Another good shooter for the Genesis. Raiden invites you to fire upon enemy tanks and planes as you zoom down from above! With cool power-ups and fast game play, Raiden pushes shooters to the limit!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Micronet | Genesis | Shooter | 8 Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 8

The wildest shooter in a long time! Earlier efforts showed the Genesis could do shooters, but the great graphics and play of Raiden proves it can do them even better now!

G.O.G. 8

There hasn't been many good shooters that have come out on the Genesis in awhile but this game is a welcome change of pace. A good translation from the coin-up and a challenge.

MIKE 9

This game is a virtual carbon copy of the arcade classic. Stunning graphics and explosive sound effects blended with solid shooting action make this one of my favorites shooters.

BART 8

One of the most intense shooters available for any system. Great graphics and sounds and a high level of challenge make this 8-Meg monster a cart worth looking at.

SWAMP THING

Swamp thing is an interesting type of game. Take on the appearance of certain pieces of your swamp environment while knocking out your enemies! Be careful, however, because you may be followed!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Nuvision | Genesis | Action | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 5

Swamp Thing could have been a really cool game with a lot of interesting concepts thrown into the proven theme. Instead we get graphics and game play that are both lacking.

G.O.G. 3

Come on people, this a 16-bit system, not a Atari 2600. Really, the graphics are poor and the game play is too slow. And, oh boy, does this put out a jammin' swamp beat.

MIKE 4

This cart doesn't boast anything that would make you think it's a Genesis game. The play and graphics are just not up to standards that we've come to expect from a 16-Bit title.

BART 3

This is a totally unacceptable16-Bit game. The graphics, sounds, and animation are below average. The game play is awful and leaves you frustrated and uninterested.

DECAPATTACK

You wouldn't think that a guy with his head in his stomach would be a hero, but Chuck D. Head is here and he's the star of this delightfully spooky game. Run, jump and fight through the underworld!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sega | Genesis | Action | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 5

This game gets an 'A' for originality, but in the end it's just another very-average action game with cute gimmick. The presentation of the graphics and play just didn't stay for me.

G.O.G. 5

If you like a game where you attack people with your stomach then this is a great game. Graphics are cool and the game plays really well. Decap does lack good sound and long play time.

MIKE 7

This shows a lot of promise. It has an original theme and solid game play that make it one of the more interesting action carts available. The end bosses are also animated extremely well.

BART 5

Not a lot to impress me, but if you don't mind the weird graphics and annoying sound this cart is a good playing alternative for action game fans. I really liked the end bosses a lot.

MERCS

Non-stop action awaits you in this faithful arcade translation of the popular shooter. Shoot down your adversaries, gain weapon strength, use your grenades, and defeat the enemy army.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Sega | Genesis | Action/Shooter | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 6

This game is a very good translation of the arcade original, but the play, is simply too easy and the overall game too short to warrant the higher marks it would otherwise receive.

G.O.G. 6

This is a good translation from the coin-up. The power-ups are awesome and very effective, and that's what I like in a video game. It is, however, a little to easy for my tastes.

MIKE 8

This is a good translation of the arcade smash. The power-ups are there and the end bosses are there. About the only complaint I have is the difficulty level is set extremely easy.

BART 7

A good over head shooter with a variety of cool power-ups. The bosses are big and mean and the graphics are excellent. The game is way too easy and finished rather quickly.

MARVEL LAND

Jump on enemies, get power-ups, and don't fall in the water! It's Marvel Land, and with its happy theme it's sure to appeal to a younger audience. Lots of action and enhancements fill the many levels of Marvel Land!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Namco | Genesis | Action | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 8

This game is a true sleeper that shouldn't be overlooked! Marvel Land uses cute characters and pastel graphics, but the play is long and uses A-1 technique and plenty of enhancements.

G.O.G. 6

There are some really neat things in this game, ranging from the cool tracer effect you get when you power-up your character to the wild scrolling. The action is slow in spots but still good.

MIKE 8

This cute game is really not for kids. In fact it has some of the best technique and game play to be found on the Genesis. Great action that delivers Super Mario type game play.

BART 7

Marvel Land is a great playing game featuring lots of special power-ups and other techniques. The different levels which resemble amusement park rides are really cool.

SAINT SWORD

In Saint Sword you play a medieval type character. You can get different types of power-ups, some of which will change your form to a winged man, a half man-half horse and others.

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Taito | Genesis | Action | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 6

Another action game for the Genesis featuring large characters and even larger end bosses. The different forms that you change into are interesting but the game lacks any real excitement.

G.O.G. 5

They had a good idea in this game, but they fell short in the game play. The cart is a slightly slow, but the graphics are pretty cool. The transformations are neat, but aren't really used.

MIKE 6

Another action game for the Genesis featuring large characters and even larger end bosses. The different forms that you change into are interesting but the game lacks any real excitement.

BART 4

The graphics in this game are average and the idea behind it is cool, but the game play is very choppy. I found this puts a damper on the good points of the game and it left me disappointed.

SPEEDBALL 2

Set in the future, Speedball 2 centers around futuristic sports action! Hold on tight to the ball because your opponents are out to knock it out of your hands-literally! The sport of the future is here today!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Arena | Genesis | Sports | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 4

While I applaud the effort made to create a new 'sport' on the Genesis, this attempt just doesn't work well. The controls aren't responsive enough and the play is never really exciting.

G.O.G. 6

I like this game , but I think they could have done a better job. Like, giving you more moves. Right now all you can do is throw the ball and slide tackle. The instant replay gets annoying!

MIKE 7

This is a great playing sports game resembling a cross between Cyberball and soccer. Detailed graphics and fast paced game play make this a futuristic contest for all.

BART 4

I don't like this game. The graphics are good but they never change and get boring after awhile. the game play is repetitive and a little sluggish at times. Where's the music?

ROADBLASTERS

Blast away your enemies going over 200 mph in this road fight to the finish. Translated from the arcade, this driving shooter will keep you on the edge of your seat. Fasten your seatbelts!

| | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| Tengen | Genesis | Driving | Meg | 10/90 |

DAVE 7

The look and feel of this game is straight from the arcades. The first-person graphics do display some rough edges, but the action and play are captured well. As a fan of RB, I liked it!

G.O.G. 5

Not a great translation from the arcade, but a good attempt. You don't have enough control of your car. Also, what happened to the backrounds? They're really weak but overall it's still fun.

MIKE 6

While the graphic and sound translation was well done, the most important aspect of the game, being game play, was somehow lost. A good effort that could have been excellent.

BART 6

The original freeway stress reliever is looking and sounding good on the Genesis, but the game play is not responsive enough and the lack of control hinders it's potential.
